

Small Project Architect of the Year

Gort Scott

Building on a research project commissioned by the mayor of London into the capital's high streets, Gort Scott has undertaken a series of small but transformative projects in deprived boroughs on the city's periphery.

In Wembley it has completed a WC faced in a filigree wrapping of water-cut metal, while on Tottenham High Street it created within a programme of just five weeks a temporary community space.

The judges were particularly impressed by the practice's ability to think in terms of both detail and urban strategy.

Runners-up

AY Architects
Dualchas Architects
Ian McChesney
Matt Architecture
Studio Octopu

Gort Scott's Wembley WC pavilion uses filigree metal to create a lantern-like effect at night.